John Henry On Tipping

SAY! did you ever make up your mind not to do any more tipping? And have you noticed how quickly you're forced to take the make-up off?

In a Big Town nowadays tipping is as necessary as a traffic cop. Only by the aid of one or both can you make any progress or get anywhere.

And the battle cry in each case is "Hands up!"

It's so in this country today that before a thoughtful man cushion-caroms through the mazy-go-round doors of a swell hotel he has to leave his pocket-book on the sidewalk if he doesn't want to lose it.

On the other side, across the Big Pond, if a hotel employee does you a little favor and you slip him a tip, he'll be happy or a pensive he will smile back at you and be much obliged for five minutes.

But in this country if you tip anybody with a couple of pennies the chances are you'll be the next nearest hospital and find a kind-hearted but not very pictorial nurse leaning over you and whispering "Keep calm, now, keep cool and calm!" The doctor says you will recover everything except your watch if he can find a small piece of the medulla oblongata which was removed from the northeastern part of your brain when the bell-boy soaked you with the ice-pitcher.

It takes a brave man to save his money these days.

Hep Hardy is one of those reckless tip-toppers. He thinks that all silver money should have a smooth surface, thereby making it easier to slip a coin to a waiter.

He is with the laundreaux would call a pepper box of prodigality.

Hep hands out backslashes like an absent-minded farmer sowing grain.

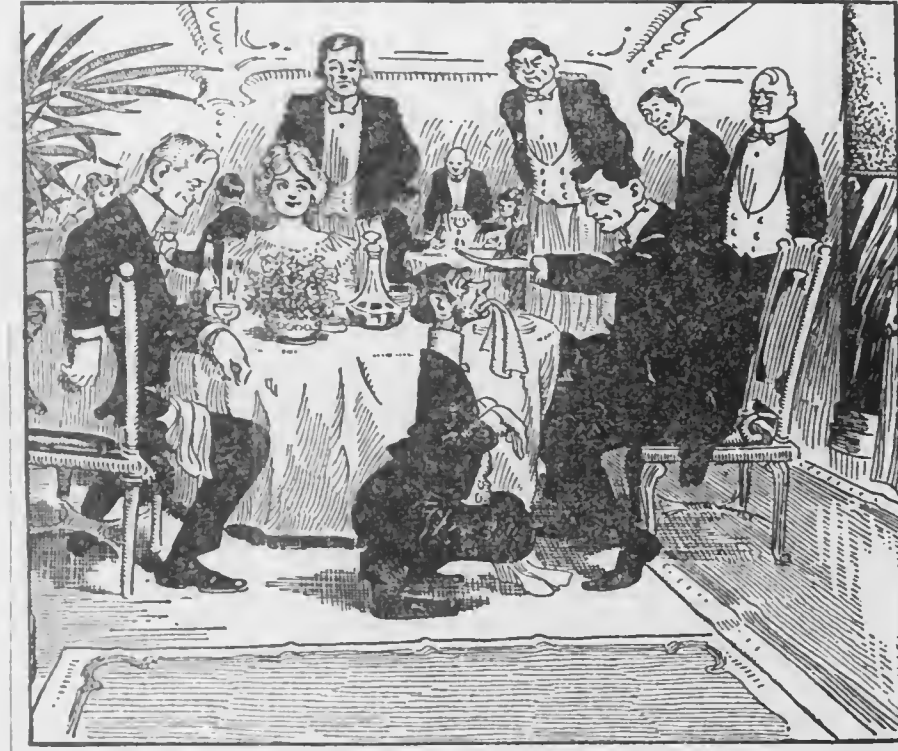

Hep's trail through a Big Town looks as though the cashier of a five and ten cent store was walking to the bank and had a hole in the canvas bag.

When Hep starts out to pound a public road with his rowdy-car all the waiters in every hash-foundry within sound of his elren fall at on their faces and yell, "Hallelujah! pay-day is here again!"

Peaches and I dined with Hep at the Saint Asteriv Hotel night before last. Hep likes to dine there because the waiters are French and when he tries to say "Good evening!" in their native tongue he insults them so hilariously he has to sprinkle the room with tip-money in order to square himself.

Hep loves to squeeze into a French cafe, grab a French menu card, and in a confidential tone give an order like this to the French waiter: "Avez le bonpou de l'eau chaude; je vais me raser. Avec ça, un mouve on you!"

In a French hour and a half the French waiter hurries back with a culinary masterpiece, which each swallow is a thrill and every new course a climax, and Hep, believing it is all due to his knowledge of the French language, swells up with pride and begins to toss money into the air.

Hep doesn't know it, but while he's spilling that Schencheday French all over the tablecloth the waiter is getting a stone bruise on his palate from holding back his Parisian laughter.

Hep would wrinkle his map with anger if he heard me, but I've been present when he has blurted out some of his French idioms with the ossified accent, and it's a scream, I notify you!

On one memorable occasion he ordered lamb chops and a baked potato in French. The waiter bowed, said, "Oul, M'sieu!" and brought him a bowl of vegetable soup and the morning paper.

That's how good that lad's French is poor nut.

As a matter of fact Hep knows exactly nine ordinary French words, including n'est pas and avec plaisir, but he has memorized the name of every street in Paris.

So when Hep exhausts his nine ordinary words he begins to use up the streets. He rushes, regardless of speed limits, all over the city of Paris. Out to Vaugirard, over to the Batignolles, to the eastern Boulevard Beaumarchais and St. Denis, then across lots to the western Boulevard des Italiens, then into the high and off through the Place de la Concorde, around corners on one wheel into the Champs Elysees and on and on with the muffer off—it's immense.

However, as I was saying some time ago, Peaches and I dined with Hep and he handed us a few lessons in the gentle pastime of tipping, he surely did.

From the very moment we entered the aristocratic beany he began the giving of alms.

The attendant at the revolving door impressed a nice old piker, cell No. 3 and kept her there, cut off from communication with the world, while he waited for Hep to dig in his jeans for the customary quarter.

A hall-boy, paging a missing husband, stopped short as he saw our party approaching, arranged his face in imitation of a Spanish mackerel, saluted Hep and received ten cents for his trouble.

Battling Bill, the house detective, loomed bulky in our pathway and without warning suddenly stooped down to pick up a pin. Hep did a boodah over the tame Cop's feet and when they both came smilingly to the surface Battling Bill clutched a grey cent piece in his Westphalia and the procession moved on.

Then from some dark recess or niche in the wall something in brass buttons and with a whisk broom in its hand darted out like a piker and pointed the whisk broom at Hep. The latter pointed a quarter at the something in brass buttons, whereupon the brass buttons and the whisk broom and the quarter darted away again, slaphy bringing to a conclusion the incident of the piker.

As we approached the coat room the girl in charge was seen to close her eyes in prayer. She didn't open them again until after Hep had explained to her that if she spent the money he gave her for a new hat she wouldn't have to give it to the income-tax gatherers. Whereupon she was glad and showed her gum chewing instructions. Then she glanced at the inside of my hat to see if it was expensive and sighed deeply as we passed on.

At the door of the soup room we were met by Effendi Bey, the head waiter.

Hep whispered something to Effendi but the boy wasn't listening. He was looking at Hep's hand which he knew must contain money. It always did. Hep gave Effendi a flash at a Treasury note. With the swiftness of thought the money changed hands, whereupon Effendi Bey began to hum, "In my harem—my dinky little harem!" and turned us over to the next table.

Murad Pasha led us to a table and stood there—counting the spoons—until Hep could find another pocket containing money.

Then Murad Pasha, clutching his hands, bowed and faded out of our lives and Giovanni Handsandsets, the omnibus, began to splash water into our glasses.

Hep got rid of Giovanni by staking him too much money to enable his little brother Angelo to get through college, and thereafter for a period of ten or fifteen minutes Hep was permitted to breathe quietly through his nose, and his pocketbook enjoyed a much needed rest.

Soon, however, another coughing fit came on and his struggles for breath were pitiful.

One of Effendi Bey's lieutenants, made up to look like Ivan the Terrible, rode up to our table to inquire if water had taken our order. Hep told him no, but Ivan couldn't believe it. Ivan was firm in his disbelief until Hep gave him money, then he saw the light and went joyously away from there.

Presently a waiter arrived who in some other incarnation must have been a pirate on the Spanish Main. He had a chin which was divided against itself, and a forehead which was retreating hurriedly on the fourth speed.

One look at Captain Kidd and I knew that Hep's desire to die poor but popular would be realized.

All the time the Captain was taking our order he was sipping us up and hoping in Portuguese that Hep's eyesight wasn't good so he could short-change him.

Finally the deadly Rover of the Seas decided to give us our food first and then take our money. The waiter made us walk the plank afterwards. Then he bore away, sou' by sou'east, for the kitchen where he dropped anchor and sharpened his boarding iron.

In the meantime, while we awaited the return of the Pirate King, our friend Hep was busy tipping.

Every time he took a cigarette from his case four eager waiters would dash forward with lighted matches and Hep, desiring to show no partiality, would slip a coin to each of the Mexican guerrillas.

One shark of a waiter swam around in the offing and every time Hep's serviette dropped from his knees to the floor the shark would retrieve it and as he came to the surface with the serviette in his teeth Hep would pat his head and reward him cheerfully.

It was one continuous orgy of tipping until finally we left the Prunes Palace with Captain Kidd gloating over the pieces of eight which Hep had given him and singing to himself, "Oh, ho—a bottle of rum on a dead shark's chest!"

Hep insisted upon taking us home in a taxi so that he could tip the starter and the chauffeur.

We stopped in the drug store at our home corner to mail some letters and Hep, with Captain Kidd gloating over the pieces of eight which Hep had given him and singing to himself, "Oh, ho—a bottle of rum on a dead shark's chest!"

Burley Tobacco Company Makes Financial Statement

Lexington, Ky., October 5, 1915.

To the Stockholders of the Burley Tobacco Company in Annual Meeting Assembled at Lexington, Kentucky, October 5, 1915:

On or about the 4th day of May 1915, a suit was instituted in the Fayette Circuit Court by J. L. Vallandigham and others against the Burley Tobacco Company charging fraud, mismanagement and other wrongs. The plaintiffs in this suit have been made defendants in the present report.

On August 30, 1915, the Executive Committee of the Burley Tobacco Company passed the following resolution:

WHEREAS, a suit has been filed in the Fayette Circuit Court by J. L. Vallandigham and others against the Burley Tobacco Company charging fraud, mismanagement and other wrongs, and the officers of this company, and asking the Court to dissolve the company, and

WHEREAS, it is important to the stockholders that these charges be fully investigated with the strictest impartiality, in order that their truth or falsity may be clearly established, and without the enormous expense incident to court proceedings;

NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, by the Executive Committee of the Burley Tobacco Company that each of the stockholders be notified that the persons making these charges will be requested to bring them before the next stockholders' meeting to be held in Lexington, Kentucky, on October 5th, 1915, for their consideration and action, and

NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that we request E. K. Renaker, of Harrison County, Glave Goddard, of Mercer County, and Chas. L. Land, of Fayette County, to act as a Proxy Committee for those stockholders who can not attend in person, and we urge all such stockholders to send their proxies to said committee with the assurance of our belief that they can be trusted by the stockholders to act solely for their interest, and that said Proxy Committee will be expected to act without the slightest expediency toward any officer of this company, and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that a full and complete financial report of the company's business be made at said stockholders' meeting, that every facility be furnished to said Proxy Committee or any other committee which the stockholders may appoint to make a thorough and complete investigation of all the books and affairs of this company, in order that the stockholders may know the exact truth concerning these charges, and the condition of this company.

The undersigned, E. K. Renaker, Glave Goddard and Charles L. Land, requested by said resolution to act as a Proxy Committee for stockholders, consented to so act, and caused a letter to be issued from the office of the company to each of the stockholders apprising them in a general way of the charges made against the officers of their company, and that an opportunity would be afforded at the annual stockholders' meeting to present these or any other charges.

This committee, after meeting and considering the situation, decided to make an investigation of the charges made in the above suit prior to the stockholders' meeting and to lay before the stockholders the results of their investigation.

The officials of the Burley Tobacco Company have given this committee and C. W. Banta, of Louisville, Ky., the expert accountant, employed by them, unrestricted access to all of the books and records of the company. The committee had before them a summary of the charges made in the Vallandigham suit, and have undertaken to investigate these charges. The result of their investigation is set out in the following report, the particular charge being first stated and then the findings of the committee given thereon:

I. The plaintiffs charge that the Burley Tobacco Company, in building, warehousing and redrying tobacco belonging to the 1909 pool, charged the growers excessive fees and that the profit of $320,000 was by reason of the excessive and unfair charges.

Upon this we find that prior to the organization of this company and prior to the organization of the Burley Tobacco Society tobacco growers were compelled, under existing conditions, to ship their tobacco to warehouses in Louisville, Cincinnati and other large central points far remote in most instances from the homes of the growers. The tobacco was thus shipped in hogheads, the grower was required to pay the freight, drayage, warehouse fees, insurance, inspection and a great many other fees and costs. Upon the organization of this company it was determined that the growers who pooled their tobacco should be charged a less fee for warehousing than they had been charged under the old system, and that this fee when thus collected was to belong to the growers themselves, that is, to their company, and was to be applied in the affairs of their company. All sums thus collected by this company from this source was for the benefit of the growers who were poolers. It was, in effect, as if the money was taken from one pocket and put into the other, because if this sum had not been collected in this way, the expenses of our organization would have had to have been met by direct charges assessed against the selling price of tobacco. It is to be noted that growers who were not poolers with this company were charged fees in excess of that complained of by Vallandigham and others in this suit, for which they got no return benefit insofar as any repayment to them was concerned. We find that the fees so charged were not excessive, nor were they unfair.

II. The Burley Tobacco Company charged the growers $275,000 for insurance, which the tobacco was not in fact insured, and that the amount paid to and received by the Burley Tobacco Company for insurance should have been repaid to the growers.

What has been said in the last paragraph as to warehousing and redrying fees will apply to this item of so-called insurance. As a matter of fact this company, instead of paying insurance companies to insure the growers' tobacco in pool, themselves issued inconvertible warehouse receipts, by which they guaranteed to redeliver to the pooler or to his assignee the exact quantity and grade of tobacco warehouse, regardless of loss by fire. The company charged the grower a certain per cent for guaranteeing to the grower the return of his tobacco, which was equivalent to insurance. The company itself did not insure the tobacco, but took the risk of loss by fire. The net profit of the company from this source was $260,000. The company therefore saved to the grower the insurance which formerly had been paid to the insurance companies and most of which was taken out of the State of Kentucky. By this arrangement the money which went out of the state to foreign insurance companies was kept in the state, and, instead of going to insurance companies, went to the Burley Tobacco Company, the stock in which was owned by the growers themselves. The charge made by the company was entirely legitimate, and the profit was legitimate profit to the company.

III. That between the time of the organization of the company and the election of a Board of Directors in 1912, those in charge of the company's affairs applied its assets for the personal use and benefit of many of its managers.

After investigating this charge we find nothing to sustain it.

That the company owns buildings used exactly as the company and its managers use.

One in Anderson County. One in Breckinridge County. One in Bracken County. One in Carroll County. One in Campbell County. One in Franklin County. One in Fleming County. One in Grant County. One in Hart County. One in Harrison County. One in Harlan County. One in Henry County. One in Mercer County. One in Meade County. One in Mingo County. One in Morgan County. One in Owen County. One in Oldham County. One in Robertson County. One in Scott County. One in Spencer County. One in Trimble County.

IV. That the company now owns the following loose leaf warehouses: Two in Bracken County. One in Carroll County. One in Fayette County. One in Fleming County. One in Grant County. One in Hart County. One in Harrison County. One in Harlan County. One in Henry County. One in Mercer County. One in Meade County. One in Mingo County. One in Morgan County. One in Owen County. One in Oldham County. One in Robertson County. One in Scott County. One in Spencer County. One in Trimble County.

It is charged that practically all the warehouses have been vacant and have produced no revenue since 1912; that they could have been operated to produce an income, but the officers of the company fraudulently managed them so as to produce no income; have neglected them and that they are rapidly depreciating in value.

We find from investigating the records of the company that in the management of the loose-leaf warehouses the company has made a profit equal to eleven per cent on the amount invested; that on the management of all its warehouse property, including loose-leaf warehouses, it has made a profit of eight per cent on the amount invested. We find nothing to support the charge that the business or property of the company has been neglected or improperly handled.

When the Burley Tobacco Company was organized the loose-leaf market business had not been established. It has come into existence since that time. The Burley Tobacco Company in order to accommodate the pooled tobacco of 1909 found it necessary to purchase or erect warehouses at various places in order to furnish convenient delivery points for the growers. Since the development of the loose-leaf market some of these properties are not necessary in carrying on the business of the company, and we recommend to the stockholders the passage of a resolution recommending to the Board of Directors that they dispose of such properties as the company now has, at the best obtainable price, which it no longer needs, and if the property can not be sold advantageously, then to remove the improvements to some point where the company can use them to advantage and sell the real estate.

V. It is charged that LeBus made a contract to purchase the High Oaks property for $35,000; that he failed to have the title examined before building the company to take the property; that after this contract was made, it was discovered that the property was under lease and it was necessary to pay an additional $5,000 to get possession of the property from the tenant; that all this was done fraudulently and corruptly.

It is charged that the company purchased the Orchard Park property for $20,000, and that no part of this property was necessary for the company's use, and that the officers of the company have negligently failed to handle the property since its purchase so as to derive any benefit therefrom.

It is further charged that the warehouse built by the company in Lexington cost $70,000 and the equipment $10,000; that these prices were grossly excessive and constituted a wasteful expenditure of the company's money.

Concerning the purchase of the High Oaks property, we find upon investigation that this property was bought after full and careful consideration by the Executive Committee. The purchase price agreed upon with the owners of the property was $35,000. The title to the property was examined and by reason of the fact that one of the interests was owned by a minor it was necessary to institute a suit to sell said property, and it was bought under a decree of court. At the time a contract was made with the owners of the property for its purchase the Executive Committee had full knowledge of the fact that the property was then under lease to Dr. George P. Sprague for a period of five years. An additional amount was paid to the tenant to secure a cancellation of his lease.

At the time the negotiations for the purchase of this property were under way it was all important that the Burley Tobacco Company have a suitable site for its proposed warehouse, and as it was then late in the year and much work would have to be done toward the construction of the warehouse, and it was doubtful whether the purchase of the High Oaks property could be consummated, the Executive Committee decided to purchase the Orchard Park property from J. D. Creighton for $20,000. At that time the Executive Committee contemplated the establishment of a factory in Lexington and the Orchard Park property would have been an excellent site for such a factory and for additional warehouses.

We find no fact to sustain the charge that any of the officers of the company were guilty of negligence or bad judgment in the purchase of these properties. We regard them as wise investments and believe that the property was fully worth the amount paid, and inquiry concerning the present value of these properties convinces us that the company will not only not lose any money on account of either purchase, but will make a substantial profit by reason of the fact that the value of the real estate in this part of the City of Lexington has greatly increased since the purchase of these properties.

Concerning the charge that the officers of the company were guilty of extravagance in paying $70,000 for the warehouse, we find upon investigation that this was the best obtainable terms. The records of the company show that the investment made in the purchase of this property and the construction of the warehouse has proven quite profitable to the company.

VI. It is further charged that the company paid $600,000 for the Strater Bros. factory plant and charged that the fair market value of this property was $400,000, and that the property had been offered for sale at that price shortly before the Burley Tobacco Company purchased it.

It is also charged that the machinery and equipment were old and antiquated and in bad shape and had little value; that the company continued to manufacture the old brands of tobacco and created and put on the market new brands; and that the company has wastefully and corruptly expended large sums of money in advertising said brands of tobacco.

After investigating this charge we find that the property was bought as reasonably as it could have been, as we have sworn evidence to prove that other parties were willing to pay the same price for it. We find the machinery in good condition and not at all antiquated. In our judgment the officers of the company acted in good faith in advertising the brands of tobacco, and in no sense was there any evidence of corruption.

VII. It is further charged that in the management of the Strater Bros. factory the company has lost $300,000 and that this loss is steadily increasing.

This committee has spent several days going carefully into every phase of the business of the Strater Bros. factory and informed itself concerning the nature and extent of their losses and the condition of the property. We have caused Mr. C. W. Banta, of Louisville, Ky., recognized as one of the ablest and most reliable accountants in this state, to prepare for us a report showing the profit and loss account of the factory ever since its purchase by the Burley Tobacco Company up to October 1, 1915. We file herewith as a part of this report the Statement prepared by Mr. Banta. This Statement shows that the operation of the factory has resulted in a loss to the company, but this loss has been gradually decreasing until now the operation of the factory is showing an actual profit to the company. The report of the last three months shows a net profit of $5,344.34.

BRILLIANT CONVENTION PLANNED

For Kentucky Equal Rights Association

TO BE HELD IN LEXINGTON, NOVEMBER

Foreign Speakers. Business Meetings and Social Events.

The twenty-sixth convention of the Kentucky Equal Rights Association will be held in Lexington Nov. 8-10. Features of the meeting will be addresses by Mrs. Philip Snowden, of England, and by Madame Rosika Schwimmer, of Hungary; a banquet at the Phoenix Hotel on Tuesday evening, with short talks from all the principal speakers of the convention, from the "writing women" of the state and distinguished Kentucky men; an automobile ride, ending with a reception at Ashland—the home of Henry Clay—given Monday afternoon to the delegates and distinguished visitors of the convention; and a round-table discussion of "How the Federation Can Aid the Woman Suffrage Movement," led by Mrs. Morris Bartlett, President of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs; discussion and reports of press work and of city and rural suffrage activity.

MRS. PHILIP SNOWDEN, the noted English suffragist, will make the opening address at the suffrage convention in Lexington the night of Monday, Nov. 8. When Mrs. Snowden spoke in Lexington two years ago many people who could not get seats stood throughout the address. Many others were turned away because they could not find standing room in the hall.

Mrs. Snowden is the wife of the Honorable Philip Snowden, a member of the House of Commons, and at present one of the committee appointed by Hon. Lloyd George to control the sale of liquor in the munitions area. Mrs. Snowden, though a young woman, has been speaking in public since her husband was returned to Parliament in 1905. In the last eight years she has averaged two hundred public addresses a year, delivered in England, in this country and in Australia. Mrs. Snowden is now giving a month's campaign speaking in New York State. She is the author of a book on "The Feminist Movement."

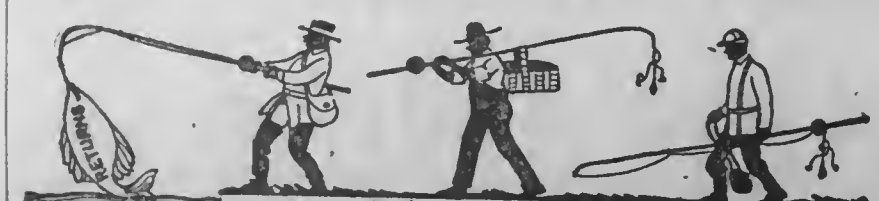

MRS. R. A. McDOWELL, Recording Secretary of the K. E. R. A., is the wife of a prominent Louisville attorney, who is President of the Kentucky Men's League for Woman Suffrage. Mrs. McDowell, as Chairman of the suffrage tent at the recent State Fair, secured over 1,500 signatures of men and women as believers in suffrage.

MRS. J. B. JUDAH, Treasurer of the K. E. R. A., has brought not only a brilliant mind, earnest conviction and fine enthusiasm to the suffrage cause, but a most valuable experience as a club worker and as an officer of the local and the national Jewish Council of Women.

NATIONAL SUFFRAGE ASSOCIATION TO MEET IN WASHINGTON, D. C.
The National American Woman Suffrage Association will hold its annual meeting in Washington, D. C., at the New Willard Hotel, December 14-15. Immediately after the opening of Congress, delegates from Kentucky to the national convention will be chosen at the state meeting of the K. E. R. A. at Lexington.

She Will Recover

So her doctor said. Her friends and neighbors felt sure of it too. They have used Peruna themselves and know of its merits. That old cough that had worried her for years and years, for which she had taken all sorts of cough medicines, has disappeared. Peruna is doing the work. She will recover. Indeed, she has recovered.

Her name is Mrs. William Hohmann, 2764 Lincoln Ave., Chicago, Ill. She had suffered with catarrh of the bronchial tubes and had a terrible cough ever since a child. As she got older she grew worse. She coughed both winter and summer. Had to sit up at night. Could not sleep. "But all that has left me now, Peruna has cured me."

There are others, and there is a reason.

Mr. Noland Honored.

Attorney John Noland, of this city, has been signally honored by being elected District Deputy of the B. P. O. Elks for the Eastern District of Kentucky, having received the commission last week. Mr. Noland is an enthusiastic member of the local lodge of Elks, and has been a consistent worker in the order and the honor conferred upon him is most worthily bestowed. There are two District Deputies in the State whose duty it is to visit the various lodges in their respective districts and keep the good work moving. We heartily congratulate Mr. Noland on his appointment.

NOTICE TO THE VOTERS

Sept. 30, 1915
To The Voters of Madison County

I am addressing you in the interest of my candidacy to represent the county in the next Legislature. I wish to say I have always had a desire to represent the county in that body, because of my varied experience in matters pertaining to what I deem to be for the best interests of the State.

In the first place, I was born and reared upon the farm and am still a farmer, believe I know what is the best interests of the farmers, and at the same time, believe there should be nothing passed through and enacted into legislation that would prove detrimental to other callings or legitimate business of any kind, and having been engaged as a merchant and having a general knowledge of business and the needs of the general public, I believe I can represent all classes fairly and to the best interests of the State.

For many years I have taught in the public schools of the county, as to my qualifications and ability to represent the county, I refer to those who know me best: I have never in my life tasted intoxicating liquors, and believe in the strict enforcement of the County Unit Law, and favor the enforcement of all laws.

I favor a better taxing system, and lower taxes: longer school terms, and few changes in school books; last but not least, I believe in good roads economically constructed.

While I have always affiliated with the Republican party, I am not a partisan and do not entertain bitter feelings for the Democracy, and will greatly appreciate any Democratic aid that may be given me.

I solicit your votes irrespective of party, and if elected, shall endeavor to set honestly in the discharge of the duties that come upon me, doing in every instance what I deem to be the best interests of all.

Yours Truly,
G. B. Moores.

Summing Up the Evidence

Many Richmond People Have Been Called As Witnesses.

Week after week has been published, the testimony of Richmond people—kidney sufferers—backache victims—who have endured many forms of kidney, bladder or urinary disorders. These witnesses have used Doan's Kidney Pills. All have given their enthusiastic approval. It's the same everywhere. 30,000 American men and women are publicly recommending Doan's—always in the home papers. Isn't it a wonderful, convincing mass of proof? If you are a sufferer your verdict must be "Try Doan's first."

Mrs. Nelson Ross, 410 Laurel St., says: "My kidneys were irregular in action and I had pains through my back. At times I was nervous and dizzy. Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Middleton's Drug Store, soon made me feel better in every way."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Ross had. Foster-Milburn Co. Props., Buffalo, N. Y.—adv.

SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Lesson IV.—Fourth Quarter, For Oct. 24, 1915.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, 11 Kings vi, 8-17. Memory Verses, 16, 17—Golden Text, Ps. xxvii, 7—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

In last week's lesson the conduct of Elisha, the man of God, was truly grand as he made it manifest that he did indeed stand before the living God, not cringing to nor fawning upon any human greatness nor seeking anything from any one but the Lord alone.

His covetous lying servant could not understand it and brought upon himself the leprosy of Naaman. "Take heed, and beware of covetousness," for "covetousness is idolatry" (Luke xii, 15; Col. iii, 5).

The opening verses of our lesson chapter tell of Elisha going with the sons of the prophets to Jordan to obtain material to enlarge their dwelling, which had become too strait for them.

We are not told what school this was, but probably the one at Jericho, for that was nearest to Jordan, and perhaps the same young men who searched in vain three days for Elisha. It looks as if there was an increase in the number of students, and if so it may have been because of the translation of Elisha. This I do know that the truths concerning the coming of Christ and associated events always lead to increase of interest in Bible study.

The lost ax recovered by a bit of tree cast into the water, which made the iron swim, makes me think of the tree which made the iron swim, which made the iron swim, which made the iron swim.

In our present lesson the king of Israel was delivered from the hands of the king of Syria because of the timely warnings of Elisha, so that the king of Syria believed that he had a traitor in his army who was a friend of the king of Israel. He called his servants to inquire which of them it was who revealed his plans to the king of Israel. It was this that he learned that there was no traitor among his people, but that there was a prophet in Israel who could tell his king everything.

Even words he spoke in secret (verses 8-12).
Then the king of Syria determined to capture Elisha and sent horses and chariots, a great host, who came by night and compassed the city of Dothan, where Elisha was (verses 13, 14). In the morning Elisha's servant, seeing this great host, was filled with fear, and said, "Alas, my master, how shall we do?" Elisha calmly replied, "Fear not, for they that be with us are more than they that be with them" (verses 15, 16). Elisha could make the words of David his own, "Though an host should encamp against me my heart shall not fear" (Ps. xxvii, 3). He could say with Paul, "If God be for us who can be against us?" (Rom. viii, 31). Oh, the rest of such confidence in God, the victory of such a consciousness of the unseen! Moses endured as seeing Him who is invisible. David also realized in a remarkable degree the presence of the Lord.

Our Lord Jesus when he was here was ministered to by the angels and said that He could have legions of them for the asking. As Elisha endeavored to quiet his servant, he said, "Lord, I pray thee, open his eyes that he may see." And the young man saw the mountain full of horses and chariots of fire round about Elisha (verse 17). Oh, for such a sight of unseen realities! But to come to the word, "Blessed are they that have not seen, yet have believed." "We walk by faith, not by sight" (John xxi, 20; II Cor. v, 7). I do believe that the angels (not our friends who have died) are ministering to the redeemed on the earth, the heirs of salvation (Heb. i, 14). I often say to my people and to the classes that I know that I have two congregations, those whom I see and the invisible angels who desire to look into the things of which we speak (I Pet. i, 12).

As the Syrians came to take Elisha he said, "Lord, I pray Thee smite this people with blindness," and He did so. Then Elisha said to them, "Follow me, and I will bring you to the man whom ye seek" (verses 18, 19). For it was really the king of Israel whom they were seeking. They only wanted the prophet because he was hindering them from getting the king of Israel. Having brought them to the man they wanted, he said, "Lord, open the eyes of these men that they may see," and, their eyes being opened, they found themselves in Samaria in the presence of the king of Israel. At the suggestion of Elisha he prepared great provision for them, and when they had eaten and drunk he sent them away to their master. So the bands of Syria came no more into the land of Israel (verses 20-23).

It was certainly hopeless to think of accomplishing anything against a power that could so control them, and such kindness from one who could so easily have slain them all was too much for them. Such treatment from a people so remarkably protected by a prophet of the Lord completely subdued them. It looks like a great moral conquest.

In chapter vii we see more of the power of God in causing the host of the Syrians to hear a noise of chariots and horses and to flee for their lives, leaving everything behind them.

"The wicked flee when no man pursueth." Nothing too hard for the Lord.

Rheuma for Rheumatism
No matter how many remedies you have tried and failed to get relief, one trial of Rheuma will convince you that sciatica and all forms of rheumatism can be permanently cured. B. L. Middleton and all druggists sell it for 50 cents.

"I was so crippled with sciatic rheumatism I could not walk. Three bottles of Rheuma permanently cured me." Guy Orley, St. Paul, Minn.

Rheuma gets right into the blood, dissolves the uric acid crystals and passes them through the kidneys and bowels. This is the best way to cure rheumatism. The manufacturers guarantee it.

Stray Heifers.
Fifteen heifers were permitted by the management of the Madison Stock Yards Co. to break through their pens and wander away last Monday, county court day, six were found on Big Hill pike, and six on Irvine pike. Three are yet unaccounted for. All thought to be deep red, weight about four fifty to five hundred pounds. Any information leading to their recovery will be greatly appreciated and paid for by the undersigned. John Cabell Cheneault

Loss Of Appetite

Close Call For Winchester.
Winchester had a close call last Thursday night when a C. & O. freight train crashed into an L. & N. cut of cars which was being switched. Two cars filled with dynamite were reduced to splinters and the explosive scattered several yards, but for some unaccountable reason did not explode. There was enough dynamite in those two cars, had it been exploded, to blow Winchester off the face of the earth.

Wholesome Advice
With the approach of the fall season, the big jobbers and manufacturers will begin to send out their salesmen. Many of these salesmen are going to call on you Mr. Retailer. Here are a few suggestions by which you might open the conversation with them:

Ask them what they will do to help you sell the goods they want you to buy.

Ask them if their firm is going to advertise in the newspapers of your city. If they reply "No," ask them why not?

Tell them that it is necessary for them to create the demand in your city, among your customers, for their line of goods; otherwise you cannot push their line in preference to those manufacturers or jobbers who do create this demand.

Tell them the best way to create the demand is to advertise in the local newspapers, that your customers read the newspapers published here; that you yourself advertise in them; and that you are not willing to spend your money to make their particular brands popular in this town and later have them take the line away from you and give it to your competitor.

Tell them that you favor the goods which are advertised in your local newspapers because you find it more profitable to do so.

This is a mighty good hand to hold. It should be a stand pat one.

A World Beater.

Recently compiled records show that Pop Geers, the veteran Grand circuit driver, has won more than a $1,000,000 in purses since he began to handle the reins back in 1890. His best season was in 1912, when he totaled $116,370. Ty Cobb, Packey McFarland, and other financial stars of sport will have to keep going at top speed if they hope to equal the record made by the wizard of the reins.

Auto Wreck.

Miss Julia White, of this city, and Miss Barbara Witt, of Irvine, had a very narrow escape while out in a car with two young men several days ago, in Irvine. They were coming at a good rate of speed down the road when just ahead of them they spied a man on horseback directly across the road. In trying to avoid striking him, the machine was hurled about ten feet and down an embankment, having twice turned completely over. Miss Witt was considerably bruised but the other occupants of the car were uninjured.

Card of Thanks.

CLIMAX-MADISONIAN:—Will you kindly permit me to express through your columns, on behalf of myself and church, our very grateful appreciation of the courtesies extended to us by our brethren and kind friends in other churches, who so generously and cordially assisted us in the entertainment of our guests during the recent synod.

The best traditions of Kentucky hospitality were delightfully maintained, and the visitors departed with charming impressions of Richmond and its people.

Every Woman Should Know

There are three entirely different kinds of baking powder, namely:

- (1) Cream of tartar, derived from grapes;
- (2) Alum, a mineral acid; and
- (3) Phosphate of Lime.

(1) Baking Powders made of Cream of Tartar add to the food the same healthful qualities that exist in the ripe grapes from which Cream of Tartar is derived.

(2) Baking Powders made of Alum or Aluminum, a heavy metal, wholly foreign to any natural article of food.

(3) Phosphate of Lime is made from rock or by burning bones which by chemical action are changed into a white, powdered acid. It is used in baking powder only because it is a cheaper substitute.

A Cream of Tartar powder never contains Alum or Phosphate.

Every housekeeper should read the names of the ingredients printed on the label and know what she is using.

Lancaster Will Barbecue.

Our neighboring city of Lancaster is making extensive preparations to have an old-fashioned Democratic rally and barbecue on next Friday. Many speakers of fame will be present and a great day is anticipated. The Democracy of Garrard county is always dependable, and the hospitality of her people is unexcelled, and it is needless to say the rally and barbecue will be first-class in every particular.

Elegant Residences.

Judge N. B. Turpin, the popular architect and builder of Richmond and Irvine, has been awarded contracts to erect two elegant dwellings in our city, and plans have been completed and arrangements made to proceed with the work at once. One of these will be erected by C. W. Sale on the site of the old Sale house in East Irvine, and the other is to be erected by J. L. Powell on the corner of Court and High streets. Both buildings are to be thoroughly modern in equipment, including hot water heat. These residences will be valuable ornaments to the town.—Estill Tribune.

Special Edition.

The Winchester Democrat of October 15th, comes out in a special "D. A. R." edition which would do credit to many of our larger cities. The occasion being the celebration of the 25th anniversary of the organization of this splendid body of patriotic women who have not only kept green the memory of the dead, but who have founded schools, and libraries and other charities throughout the North, South, East and West for the living. And so we again congratulate Mr. Nelson on the interesting sheet he has gotten out as a tribute to the women of the "D. A. R."

A Long Tramp.

Oliver and Wendell Stamper, sons of Dr. J. H. Stamper, formerly of this city, but now of Hazel Green, and aged 14 and 11 years, respectively, walked a distance of 116 miles from their home to Lexington in order that they might witness the glories of Barnum & Bailey's Circus. When they arrived in Lexington their feet were so swollen and bruised that they were unable to walk and had to be taken to the detention home, where it was necessary to treat their feet for four days before they were able to walk. They were placed on an L. & E. train and returned to their home without getting to see the circus.—Mt. Sterling Democrat.

DEATHS

Mrs. McDowell, a former resident of Richmond, died on Tuesday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Frank Hanger, of Stanton, Virginia, the burial taking place in this city Friday. Mrs. McDowell had received a fall several weeks ago and had never recovered from the same. She was a woman of lively character and great personal charm and had many friends in this community who sorrow at her death. Mrs. McDowell was related to many of the oldest and most prominent families of the county.

Nellie May, the bright little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hume Johnstone, of Paola, died after a brief illness on October 8. She was eight years of age, a sweet child and loved by all who knew her. She will be greatly missed by her schoolmates and deep sympathy goes out to the bereaved parents, sisters and brothers.

Nellie May has left us. A voice we loved is still: A place is vacant in our home. That can never be filled.

Two Die Same Day.

Mrs. G. A. Roy and sister, Mrs. A. P. Bryson, received a telegram Tuesday, October 8, containing the sad news of the death of their brother, William Spurluck, at South Point, Ohio, and a remarkable coincidence was that Mrs. Bryson's husband, A. P. Bryson, received a telegram that evening announcing the death of his brother, Randon Bryson, of South Point, Ohio, who was killed in a railroad accident on the N. & W. railroad. Mr. Bryson and brother, Alonzo Bryson of Valley View, left with Mrs. Roy for South Point.—Jesse-James Journal.

Col. E. C. Parkes Ill.

A telephone message was received in this city Tuesday morning from Mr. Sterling, stating that Col. E. C. Parkes was critically ill in that city. Col. Parkes left here about a week ago apparently in his usual health, and the news of his illness came as a shock to his many friends. He will be removed to this city at the earliest possible date.

Another Curiosity.

Chas. Ilunter brought us a curiosity one day the past week, which he secured on the farm of H. B. Hanger. It was a great cluster of Indian corn as it grew in its original state. While we have often seen similar formations growing in fields of corn, yet we have never seen as large and perfect production as the one presented to our office by Mr. Hunter.

Keep This In Mind.

Keep constantly in mind and tell your friends that Hon. A. O. Stanley, Democratic nominee for Governor, will speak at the court house in Richmond Thursday night, October 21. Mr. Stanley is recognized everywhere as one of the foremost men of the state and nation, and you should come out and hear him. Everybody is invited to be present. Keep in mind the date.

Big Democratic Rally.

There will be a big Democratic rally and orators-galore at Jackson, Ky. next Friday. Great preparations have been made for the rally and everybody will be welcome. It is destined to eclipse anything of the kind ever witnessed in that thriving little city. Mr. Chas. George, drum major, has contracted with the local Campaign Committee, and seventeen members of the Second Regiment Band, of this city, will furnish the music for the occasion. This is one of the best bands in Kentucky, and the boys will make "the woods with music ring."

Hon. H. V. McChesney Here.

Hon. H. V. McChesney, one of the leading orators of Kentucky, spoke to a large and enthusiastic audience at the court house in this city last night. Mr. McChesney made a matchless address and urged upon his hearers the importance of voting the Democratic ticket from top to bottom. He opposed Mr. Stanley in the Democratic State primary, taking the dry side, and was defeated. But he takes his Democracy straight, and there were no sore spots on him because of defeat, and Mr. Stanley has no more ardent supporter in Kentucky than the Hon. H. V. McChesney.

Keller-Conway.

Monday morning at 5:43 o'clock at St. Joseph Catholic church in Winchester, Mr. Jerry Keller, of this city, and Miss Geneva Conway were united in marriage by Father Hiltmeyer, the pastor, in the presence of a few relatives and friends. The church was beautifully decorated with potted plants and cut flowers. Mrs. E. F. Johnson played the wedding march. The bride's maid was Miss Elizabeth Gregory, of Paris, and the best man was Mr. John Keller, of Mt. Sterling, brother of the groom. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Conway, of Winchester, and is a charming young lady. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Keller, of Richmond, and is a popular mail carrier. After the wedding ceremony the happy couple boarded a train for Cincinnati, where they will spend two weeks honeymooning, after which they will return to this city to make their future home. The good wishes of a legion of friends accompany them through the journey of life, and with each and all the Climax-Madisonian joins in extending hearty congratulations.

CLUB NOTES

Mrs. Jas. A. Mitchell, of the Conservation Committee, is planning to have women by counties, plant the Dixie Highway.

Mrs. E. B. Hume, of Louisville, is doing a great deal of research work and club women and others are taking advantage of her services in furnishing data for papers. Mrs. Hume is a member of the Civil Service Reform Committee and is a very capable woman.

Friends of Mrs. T. J. Smith, of the Social Science Section, are proposing her for president of the Kentucky Equal Rights Association, in the event Mrs. Desha Breckenridge refuses re-election in November. The Federation with 24,000 members has endorsed suffrage.

Mrs. Frederick H. Cole, Federation Chairman of the Civil Service Reform, congratulates the Kentucky Federation on its capable Chairman, Mrs. Johnson, of Louisville, and speaks in the highest terms of her systematic and well-organized work. The Woman's Club, of Frankfort, held the first of its 1915-1916 meetings Monday afternoon in the club rooms in the old Capitol. Miss Ada Cromwell, the president, made an address and was followed by Miss Elizabeth McFarland, of St. Louis, field secretary of the Young Women's Christian Association.

Four new members were received into the club, Mrs. Hayden Freeman, Mrs. Charles Tiffin, Mrs. Mattie Reach and Miss Elsie Bennett Smith.—Louisville Herald.

In the Louisville Herald of Sunday is a splendid likeness of Mrs. Morris Bartlett, of Lawrenceburg, the president of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs. In the same paper is a column each week devoted to the work of the Federation, from which the following items are taken.

The Paducah Women's Club has a board of twenty representative men advisory to the Club. This is something altogether new and speaks well for this wide-awake body. As a token of esteem, a friendly luncheon was given these men on Friday by the officers of the Club.

Dr. Rachel Yarros, of Hull House, Chicago, will deliver a lecture before the Woman's Club of Central Kentucky, October 23rd. Mrs. Clarence Williamson is Chairman Social Hygiene and Mrs. Lafferty is serving her second term as President of the Club.

The State Conference of the D. A. R. will meet in Frankfort, Oct. 26-27-28. The Richmond Woman's Club meets Monday, Oct. 25 at half past two sharp.

Mr. Tom McCown has been entertaining a very delightful house party this week at his home in the country. Among his guests were Miss Parker, of Maysville, Misses Banister, of Lexington, Mr. Ed Wilder and Mr. Gaines Jasper, of this city.

Miss Elizabeth Turley was hostess of a beautiful bridge party given on Tuesday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Verner Million, of Danville, and Miss Margaret McMurtry, of North Carolina.

Mr. and Mrs. Lilly entertained at dinner on Thursday evening in compliment to Rev. Mar Yosp, one of the visiting ministers of the Synod.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burnam were hosts of a beautiful dinner on Sunday, the guests of honor being Gov. and Mrs. Yager, and Mrs. Lewis, of Porto Rico.

The recently organized Young Ladies Bridge Club, met on Monday afternoon with Miss Margaret Covington, on the Summit. The trophy was awarded Miss Elsie Buchanan. Miss McMurtry, of North Carolina, was a guest of the club.

Mrs. Hale Dean was hostess of the Bridge Club on Saturday afternoon. A number of outside guests were present and a pleasant afternoon spent.

Mrs. A. R. Burnam entertained the Cella Club and a number of outside friends on Wednesday afternoon at her home on West Main. The program, a miscellany one, was one of the most choice and beautiful of the entire year. After reading of the minutes by the secretary, Miss Caperton, the current events were given by Miss Julia Higgins. Those who contributed papers, vocal and instrumental numbers were Mrs. M. C. Kellings, Mrs. H. B. Hanger, Mrs. E. R. Burnam, Mrs. J. R. Johnson, Mrs. G. W. Pickels, Mrs. I. G. Ballard, Mrs. Walter Bennett, Mrs. Harvey Chenaunt and Misses Jamie Caperton and Laura Bright.

At the conclusion of the musicale the guests were invited to the dining room where a salad course and hot chocolate were served. The room was decorated with pink roses and ferns, the central table being especially lovely with a cloth of rich claret and center of which was a large silver bowl filled with pink Killarney roses. Among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. Caruthers, of Lexington. Mrs. Yager gave an interesting tale on one of the famous singers, of Porto Rico.

On Tuesday evening at the Christian church, Mrs. Mrs. J. R. Quisenberry and Mrs. George Simmons entertained the teachers quite delightfully. A lovely musical program was given by Miss Iessie Millon and Miss Springer and was excellent talk by Dr. E. C. McDoughe. Dr. McDoughe is an eloquent speaker and always has some original idea to present. The evening closed with serving delicious ices and cake. Many guests were present besides the teachers.

On Saturday afternoon, Miss Roberts, of the Normal School, gave an auto party in compliment to her charming visitor, Miss Shanklin, of Maysville. Returning in the evening, the guests were entertained most delightfully at the Happy Hour Tea Room.

Dr. and Mrs. H. C. Jasper and Dr. and Mrs. C. H. Vaught will attend the meeting of the Mississippi Valley Medical Association in Lexington, this week. Among the entertainments given to the physicians and their wives will be a luncheon Tuesday at the Phoenix Hotel. A smoker that evening, an automobile ride, a reception and dance Wednesday evening in the Phoenix Ball Room.

Game Commission For Madison.

Madison county now has a game and fish commission, something she should have had, to these many years. Last week, Mr. Steve K. Vaughn, of Winchester, who is working under the direction of Mr. J. Quincy Ward, Chairman of the Fish and Game Commission, spent several days here soliciting the co-operation of Madison county farmers and others in the protection of the English pheasants which are being distributed on the farm lands by the State. With the very valuable aid of the county game warden, Colonel John Christopher, he did that through the organization of a Madison County Fish and Game Protective Association. The new association when first called to order, will boast a membership of from 300 to 500 farmers. Mr. Vaughn likewise has organized Clark county, where a membership of 300 and more is enlisted. He goes to Montgomery and Powell county to similarly engage himself during the next few weeks.

New York Representative Here.

A representative of a large New York poultry firm was in the city recently with some of our leading citizens relative to opening a large cold storage plant to be used by his firm for the storage of poultry and eggs. The firm proposes to buy and kill poultry and prepare it right here for the New York market. The gentlemen in question was highly pleased with the outlook at this place, and it is probable a deal will be consummated within the next few days and the cold storage plant erected.

COULD SCARCELY WALK ABOUT

And For Three Summers Mrs. Vincent Was Unable to Attend to Any of Her Housework.

Pleasant Hill, N. C.—"I suffered for three summers," writes Mrs. Vincent, of this town, "and the third and last time, was my worst."

I had dreadful nervous headaches and prostration, and was scarcely able to walk about. Could not do any of my housework.

I also had dreadful pains in my back and sides and when one of those weak, sinking spells would come on me, I would have to give up and lie down, until it wore off.

I was certainly in a dreadful state of health, when I finally decided to try Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I firmly believe I would have died if I hadn't taken it.

After I began taking Cardui, I was greatly helped, and all three bottles relieved me entirely.

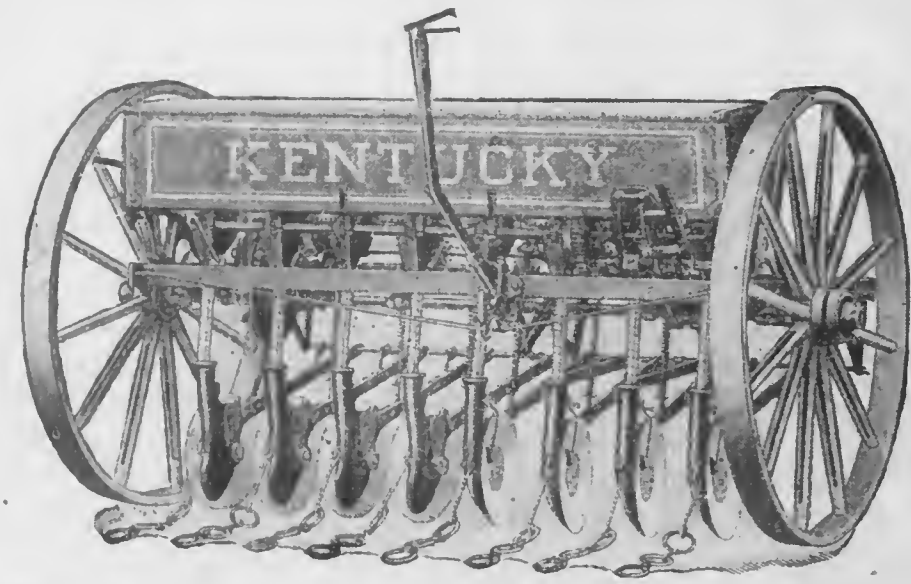

I fattened up, and grew so much stronger in three months, I felt like another person altogether."

Cardui is purely vegetable and gentle-acting. Its ingredients have a mild, tonic effect, on the womanly constitution.

Cardui makes for increased strength, improves the appetite, tones up the nervous system, and helps to make pale, sallow cheeks, fresh and rosy.

Cardui has helped more than a million weak women, during the past 50 years. It will surely do for you, what it has done for them. Try Cardui today.

SEEIN' THINGS AT NIGHT.

AIN'T afraid uv snakes or toads or bugs or worms or mice.
An' things 'at girls are skeered uv I think are awful nice!
I'm pretty brave, I guess, an' yet I hate to go to bed.

For, when I'm tucked up warm an' snug an' when my prayers are said,
Mother tells me "Happy dreams!" an' takes away the light
An' leaves me lyin' all alone an' seein' things at night!

Sometimes they're in the corner, sometimes they're by the door,
Sometimes they're all a-standin' in the middle uv the floor;
Sometimes they are a-sittin' down, sometimes they're walkin' round
So softly and so creepy like they never make a sound;

Sometimes they are as black as ink, an' other times they're white,
But the color ain't no difference when you see things at night!

Once, when I licked a feller 'at had just moved on our street
An' father sent me up to bed without a bite to eat,
I woke up in the dark an' saw things standin' in a row
A-lookin' at me cross eyed an' plintin' at me—no!

Oh, ma! I wuz so skeered that time I never sleep a mite.
It's almost alluz when I'm had 'at I see things at night!

Lucky thing I ain't a girl or I'd be skeered to death!
Bein' I'm a boy, I duck my head an' hold my breath.
An' I'm, oh, so sorry I'm a naughty boy, an' then
I promise to be better an' I say my pray-ers again.

Gran'ma tells me that's the only way to make it right
When a feller has been wicked an' seein' things at night!

An' so when other naughty boys would coax me into sin
I try to akvash the tempter's voice 'at urges me within.
An' when they's pie for supper or cakes 'at's big an' nice,
I want to, but I do not pass my plate fr them things twice.

No, rather let starvation wipe me slowly out of sight,
Than I should keep a-livin' on an' seein' things at night!

—Eugene Field.

"AUF WIEDERSEHEN."

THE little gate was reached at last.
Half hid in lilacs down the lane;
She pushed it wide and, as she passed,
A wistful look she backward cast
And said "Auf wiedersehen!"

WITH hand on latch, a vision lingered reluctant and again,
Half doubting if she did aright,
Soft as the dew that fell that night
She said "Auf wiedersehen!"

THE lamp's clear glim fits up the stair,
I linger in delicious pain.
Ah, in that chamber, whose rich air
To breathe in thought I scarcely dare.
Thinks she, "Auf wiedersehen!"

THIS thirteen years, ago more I press
The just that allures the lane;
I hear the rustle of her dress,
I smell the lilacs and—ah, yes,
I hear "Auf wiedersehen!"

SWEET peace of bashful maiden art!
The English words had seemed too faint.
Yet held us tenderly apart—
She said "Auf wiedersehen!"

—Lowell.

Starting the Day Right

THE first exercise of the day at the open air school for the treatment of anemic children in Louisville is a cold shower bath. The bath lasts only a few seconds and is followed by a quick hard rub with a coarse towel, so that the blood is brought again to the surface. The cold bath banishes any one so that an exposure to cold air and drafts is no longer dangerous. In addition the child, cold bath sends each child to the school-room happy and alert for the duties of the day.

Why Not Sleep In the Open Air?

ALMOST every one who wishes it may have a sleeping porch. One must also be good for healthy people. Those who have tried sleeping in the open on sleeping porches say they have never rested so well. Those who get up every morning in winter with headaches and feel generally out of sorts will always find that open windows in sleeping rooms will prevent that sort of feeling. Sleeping right out of doors on a porch is even better.

When you build your home plan for an open air sleeping porch just as you would for a kitchen. If you want one now, don't hold back thinking it will cost a large sum of money. This one was built for $20.

Build your porch where it will be protected from strong winds. It is also a good plan to provide it with curtains to keep out the rain and sun.

Old Folks Saved From Suffering

Mrs. Mary A. Dean, Taunton, Mass., in her 87th year, says: "I thought I was beyond the reach of medicine, but Foley Kidney Pills have proven most beneficial in my case."

Mr. Sam A. Hoover, Rich Point, N. C., writes: "My kidney trouble was worse at night and I had to get up from five to seven times. Now I do not have to get up at night, and condition, which I attribute to Foley Kidney Pills, as I have taken nothing else."

Mrs. M. A. Bridges, Robinson, Mass., says: "I suffered from kidney ailments for two years. I commenced taking Foley Kidney Pills five months ago, and though I am 61 years of age, I feel like a 14-year-old girl."

Foley Kidney Pills are a tonic, strengthening and up-building, and restore normal action to the kidneys and to a disordered and painful bladder. They act quickly and contain no dangerous or harmful drugs.

Character Forming In Youth.

It was a saying of Froebel's that the character of a man or woman is fixed at six years of age, thus putting the formative period very early in the development of the child.

Most mothers do not believe this dictum or ignore it, as they trust their children to nature, more during those first six years than at any other time. There are, however, an increasing number of women who realize that good habits are more easily formed and good impressions more easily made in very early childhood than later on.

One modern mother, though possessed of ample means, refuses to employ a regular nurse. She takes entire charge of her two little children, a girl of four and a boy of two. This is not the result of theory on her part, but an outgrowth from her own experience. Brought up in a luxurious household, waited on "hand and foot" by an attentive nurse, she was suddenly sent off to boarding school at the age of fourteen.

"I shall never forget," she says, "my terrible mortification at not being able to dress myself properly or even to comb my own hair. I used to cry myself to sleep at night and dread getting up in the morning to encounter that awful problem of getting neatly into my clothes."

Determined that her children shall never be helpless, she has taught these little nites to look after themselves in quite a wonderful way.

Sister of one day, I have had a picture of two small boys and a young lady asking one of them, "How old is your little friend, Tommy?" To which Tommy replies, "I do not know, but I think he must be pretty old, because he can blow his own nose."

Judged by this standard, the boy of two referred to above would be "pretty old," while the girl would be positively aged. It has taken an infinity of patients to get these children to the point of efficiency which they now enjoy, but it has certainly paid the mother for all her trouble. It is much easier to take a child and dress it than it is to let it by and see it to be easily handled.

These two children are still bathed in the tub, but otherwise, as the Scotch say, they "sort" themselves. There are many practical details to be considered in such work. Clothes must be made simple, so as to offer as few difficulties to little fingers as may be. The faucets in the bathroom are not only an obstacle to a child, but also a temptation to play with water and mess clean frocks, so a washing apparatus must be arranged.

The particular mother whose methods are quoted above obtained a kindergarten table such as that on which the children play their games. It has the advantage of being exactly the right height and at the same time of being both solid and stable. Painted white this answered for a washstand. Then came the question of utensils. Stoneware was too heavy, and china, though light enough to be easily handled, was quickly broken by inexpert little hands.

The answer to this problem came from enameled ware, which is made nowadays in a number of attractive colors. Pretty enough to be used as pitchers, not too large to be lifted even when full, make implements the children can safely manage. Soap dish, toothbrush mug and slop pail complete the outfit. Nothing can be broken. Utensils are heavy, and yet all is clean, fresh and inviting.

The little girl worked her initials on her little face cloths in cross stitch, and "brother" will do the same when sufficiently advanced. Supper is always eaten in the nursery, and these tots set their own table, mother kindergarten table, and their table utensils are also enameled ware in attractive colors, so that cups and saucers, plates and pitchers can be manipulated without risk.

They are very earnest about this task of setting table, and woe betide the child whose dishes are not set in the proper order by the waitress or waiter.

Visitors say, "How cunning, how clever the dear little things are!" but not one in a dozen realizes the work and the patience that are put in the training.

Rich will be the reward when the children are older. The independence they have acquired will be more valuable to them than a fortune, for it will be a fortune that cannot be lost.

For the Housekeeper's File.
According to the September Woman's Home Companion September is the month for all housekeepers:
"To make the acquaintance of your children's new teachers."
"To plan varied and healthful school lunches."
"To see that the furnace and pipes are in working order."
"To do all necessary painting around the house and fences."
"To have the roof examined and repaired if necessary."
"To choose and order any new wall paper."
"To look over the winter bedding, recover comforts and mattresses."

He Knew His Staff.
When the late M. Camille Pelletan founded La Justice, in conjunction with M. Clemenceau, most of those employed on the paper were ex-communists and displayed remarkable independence at work. M. Pelletan used to tell a story of one of the messengers appearing in the editor's sanctum and exclaiming, "I think you rang, M. Clemenceau?" "I did not ring," was the reply, "for if I had done so you would certainly not be here. What is the favor you want from me?"—London Chronicle.

Remarkable Relief Map.
The most remarkable relief map in the world is a public park in Guatemala city. It is of immense proportions and represents with minute detail all the physical features of the republic. Tiny steel bands represent the railroad systems, and water can be turned into all the river beds. The maker died of brain fever after completing his work.

Land, Stock and Farming Implements.

Thursday, October 28, 1915

10 A. M.
Having concluded to quit farming, I will offer for sale my farm of about two hundred and fifty acres on the Irvine nite about 4 1/2 miles east of Richmond, Ky. This is a nice home and well improved. The farm will be offered in two separate tracts.

Farm No. 1. Contains about one hundred and eighty five or ninety acres and is almost square each way. Upon it is one of the best farm residences in Madison county, a good tobacco barn, almost new, a good stock barn, and good cisterns both at barn and house, also a never failing spring in yard. This farm is well fenced with about 1000 rods of new woven wire fence with locust and cedar posts, there is also a good sugar grove of large trees. Farm has county road on one side and facing one of the best pikes to the county. Almost in sight of churches and schools, and an extra good neighborhood. Is within one-half mile of railroad and Moberly Station. 75 acres of this land is in growing wheat.

Farm No. 2. Contains about 65 or 70 acres facing on turn pike. Upon it is a good little new house, and is well fenced, also there are about 20 acres of nice straight timber on this land.

At the same time and place I will sell all my stock, Crop and farming implements, consisting of—40 head cattle, some good yearlings, about 20 short yearling calves, some fat heifers, 3 good jersey milk cows, several jersey heifers, one pair of sixteen hand mules six and nine years, one six-year-old mare mule, some good brood mares in foal, one good yearling mare mule, 4 large meat hogs, one family horse and three to four hundred shocks of fodder.

My Farming Implements are comparatively new—one binder, one wheat drill, mowing machine, Randall harrow, section harrow, wagons, harness and many things not mentioned. Terms made known on day of sale.

Daddy's Bedtime Story

The Child In the Moon.

"That is the earth,"

"I HAVE no doubt you kiddies have wondered a lot about the man in the moon," said daddy, "but have you ever thought about the child in the moon?"

"Why, no!" exclaimed the children. "Is there a child in the moon?"

"Well," replied daddy, with a smile, "just to make a story we are going to pretend that there is, because what would the man in the moon do without his child? You may be sure that he would be pretty lonely."

"Of course you cannot see this child in the moon, for the man in the moon is so large and casts such a shadow that the child is rather eclipsed by him. He hides behind his father's shadow, though I rather doubt that he likes this very much."

"How about the moon child's mamma, daddy?" asked Evelyn.

"Oh," replied daddy, "the mamma is the moon herself. They call her Luna, you know. So the family consists of Mrs. Luna, her husband, who is the man in the moon, and their moon child, whom I imagine is a little boy. And there are no other people up in the moon, though it is believed by scientists that once it held lots of other folks like our earth. There are just these three, and they are obliged to spend their time as best they can, especially as they have all the time there is."

"Mrs. Luna and her husband, the man in the moon, have grown quite used to being up there all alone, but the moon child, like most children, I fancy, without other kiddies to play with, grows quite lonely."

"Let us listen to his little wailing voice asking his daddy an old, old question that he asks quite often through the long years."

"Daddy," asks the moon child, "what's that funny little globe down there, whirling around, all covered with land and water and with the funny little things in the water and the little bits of dots hurrying around on the earth?"

"Oh," explains the man in the moon, "I've told you that so often! That is the earth upon which people live, ever so many, and children like yourself, and the little things in the water are ships upon which the people sail."

"Daddy," begs the little moon child, "why can't I slide down to the earth on a moonbeam and play with the little children down there? I'm lonesome."

"Hush your nonsense!" the man in the moon tells him. "You are so big that you would crush those poor little children all to pieces. Besides, you are so heavy that a moonbeam would break under you, and then where would you be? You stay right where you are, child."

"So, kiddies, the little moon child has to stay right where he is, which is just as well, since he is so big and cannot play with earth children anyway."

Stanley Asks War Department to Let Capt. Morrow Speak.

To the Secretary of War, Washington, D. C.—Sir: I understand that Capt. Charles A. Morrow has been directed by the department to cancel several engagements to speak in Kentucky in behalf of his brother, the Hon. Edwin P. Morrow. Mr. Morrow the Republican nominee for Governor in this State, in a published interview has laid the responsibility for this order at the door of Democratic leaders in Kentucky, and of those in charge of my campaign, and by this thinly veiled inference implied that I am more or less responsible for the cancelling of Capt. Morrow's engagements here. Mr. Edwin P. Morrow has denounced this alleged protest of Democrats as "so little and so con- temptible as to go beyond the respect of every man who loves fair play." After careful investigation I find that no body connected with the Democratic headquarters knew that Capt. Morrow was to speak in Kentucky. I certainly did not. No complaint was ever made by anybody directly or indirectly connected with my campaign for Governor. I sincerely hope that if it is possible or at all consistent with the rules governing your department, that the regulations governing the conduct of all army officers in this matter, without regard to politics, be waived and that Capt. Morrow be permitted to speak, talk, write or do anything that in his opinion will aid his brother's candidacy. As far as this headquarters is concerned: Mr. Morrow has much more to hope for from this unwarranted and earnest appeal for sympathy than from anything Capt. Morrow may do or say.

MRS. CARRITHERS FELT DISCOURAGED

Glad She Took Advice When Husband Said, "Let's Get a Bottle of Tanlac"

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 19.—Statement after statement is now being made in regard to the merits of Tanlac, the new medicine that is accomplishing such astonishing results in Louisville. Mrs. Sallie Carrithers, residing at 2816 Grand Boulevard, city, wife of a well-known car builder at the L. & N. Shops, said recently:

"My husband just simply forced me to take this Tanlac, but now I am glad that I took the medicine, as I am one of the happiest women in Louisville."

"I had always suffered from catarrh of the stomach, but my real trouble began when I ate something and had indigestion as a result of it. My stomach was in such a bad, sensitive condition that I could not eat anything."

"My husband said to me one day, 'Why don't you try this Tanlac?' I had tried so many things that I felt discouraged and told him I believed nothing would help me."

"He took me for a walk one evening recently, and passing the Taylor-Isaacs Drug Store, he said, 'Let's go in and get a bottle of Tanlac.' He had my arm and we went into the store together and bought a bottle of Tanlac."

"I waited until morning before I began taking the medicine. I took a dose before breakfast, one at noon, and a third at supper. That night I slept more soundly than I had in months. Now I have taken two bottles of Tanlac and I feel like I am cured. I am here to get another bottle, though, as my husband insists that I should do so."

"I simply cannot get enough to eat now. I never had such an appetite in my life. I enjoy everything I taste and I digest everything properly. My stomach is in excellent condition and the catarrh of the stomach has disappeared. My hearing has even improved. Tanlac is really a very wonderful medicine."

"Tanlac, the premier preparation, is sold exclusively in Richmond, by H. L. Perry's Drug Store. adv.

Sodium Compounds.

Two common household essentials, salt and baking powder, are very closely related, the latter depending upon the former for its existence. In other words, without salt, or sodium chloride, as it is technically termed, we could not manufacture baking powder, sodium bicarbonate, and would be sans biscuits, bread, cakes, etc. There are many and diverse uses, however, for sodium compounds other than the common use in baking, some of them being soda water, soap and soap powders, quinine, oxalic acid, starch, paper, paint, glass, alum and in silk bleaching, cleaning and treating skins and wool, in dynamite and textiles, as well as in many chemical compounds.

Wins At Exosition.

Jack Barrymore, the great saddle horse, formerly owned by Mr. D. T. Matlack, of Winchester, won the World's Championship for five galloped horses at the Panama Exposition last Saturday. Major Dare was second and Johnny Jones third. Jack Barrymore was bred in Montgomery county and has proven to be one of the greatest saddle horses ever sired in Kentucky. He is now owned by Mr. H. B. Thornbury, of Stockton, California.

At the Dispensary

In a number of cities in the state there are dispensaries where those who do not feel well may go for an accurate medical inspection. These dispensary of consumptives or those who suspect themselves of having tuberculosis. The visiting nurses in their rounds of the city direct rundown people to the dispensary for examination by the physicians.

The first step in the examination is to take the height and weight of the patient and the physician then makes a careful examination of the chest. Where tuberculosis is found the patient is induced to return at regular intervals to the dispensary, and the nurses visit the patients as often as possible in their homes.

A dispensary at every county seat in Kentucky affording facilities for the careful examination of suspected consumptives under the supervision of experienced physicians and nurses would result in the discovery of thousands of cases at the early stage, when, with proper treatment, they could be restored to a reasonable degree of health. Consumptives ordinarily do not go to the physician until they are too far advanced for successful treatment. Consequently there should be visiting nurses in every city to search out the sick in their homes and bring them in touch with the physicians, either in dispensaries or at the doctor's office. About 5,000 Kentuckians die annually of tuberculosis. Not a single one of these deaths is necessary. But this death rate will keep up until there are proper provisions for finding consumptives in the early stage of the disease, and the dispensary, the visiting nurse and the health officer, who go out and look for the sick, comprise the most successful organization for the discovery and prevention of tuberculosis.

Very Candid About It.

Tobacco Sales.

Commissioner Newman reports the amount of tobacco sales of 1914 crop for the month of September, as 4,494, 140 pounds at an average of $7 per hundred, and 1070 pounds of the 1915 crop sold during the month at an average of $9.91 per hundred pounds. During the month 69,340 pounds of 1913 crop was sold at an average of $5.36 per hundred.

Only a Few Left.

Edward Freeman, of Greenup county, is here on a visit to relatives. He was a member of Co. C, 5th Ky. Vol. Inf. in the civil war, which was organized at Estill Springs in 1861. Big Order.

The hustling firm of F. A. Gordon & Company, of this city, secured a large order from the Barnum & Bailey Circus, which exhibited here last Friday. The firm received the following order: Hay, 9 tons; oats, 300 bushels; straw, 4 tons; ship stuff, 1,000 pounds, besides a quantity of wood and coal. The circus people undoubtedly distributed some money here. And yet there are some people who kick about circuses coming to town, but they surely do put a great deal of money in circulation, which otherwise would never circulate. Judging from the large crowd here Friday, a large amount of the "Coin of the realm" was put in circulation.

Export Cattle Shipped.

Several carloads of fine export cattle have been shipped from Richmond during the past week by local buyers. Among those who made deliveries of some extra fine cattle were Messrs. M. C. Covington, B. M. Izo, A. K. McCown, B. B. Million and Chas. Jett. The prices were an average of $3.50.

This is certainly a fair proposition. Let us show them to you. Price, 50c. Madison Drug Store, Exclusive Agency. Adv.

Crop Conditions in Madison.

The crop conditions in Madison county were never better at this time of year. Tobacco has all been cut and hauled, and while the acreage may not be quite as large as last year, yet the quality is really better, and this will more than offset the difference. Weather conditions have been very favorable for curing, and the outlook is good for an unusually fine crop. The local warehouses are getting ready to handle the crop and indications point to one of the best seasons in their history, which means a great deal of employment for laboring men and the distribution of thousands of dollars throughout our county.

Corn is unusually good—possibly the largest and best crop ever produced in this county. Most of the early crop has been cut and the quality is fine. Prices have ranged at from $2.50 to $2.75 a barrel. Several hundred barrels have been disposed of at $2.50.

Wheat looks good and about the usual acreage has been sown. Pastures are in line shape and stock is "thieving in clover," so to speak.

The potato crop is good and enough of "spuds" were raised to supply local consumption, and prices range from 60c to 75c a bushel. Sweet potatoes are plentiful and are selling at 60 cents a bushel.

Apples are abundant. The crop is the largest produced in this county in years. Choice fruit is sold at 50c a bushel.

Vegetables are abundant and prices reasonable. Green corn and green beans are still an article to be found on the daily menu, which is rather unusual at this season.

All in all, Madison county is a great and prosperous county and her citizenship is signally blessed.

Fond of Ice Cream.

Circus people are surely fond of ice cream. The big Barnum & Bailey show, which exhibited here Friday, turned over to F. H. Gordon & Company an order for fifty gallons of ice cream, which was ordered by this wide-awake firm.

Highly Creditable.

The Winchester Democrat of last Friday contained sixteen pages of splendid reading matter and advertisements and was a highly creditable edition in every particular. The daughters of the American Revolution issued the paper in celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of their organization and it contained many articles of historical note and of great interest. The paper is worthy of preservation by each and all who were fortunate enough to secure a copy, and the local Chapter is to be congratulated upon its splendid work.

What Cures Eczema?

We have had so many inquiries lately regarding Eczema and other skin diseases, that we are glad to make our answer public after careful investigation we have found that a simple wash of D.D.D. Prescription, as recommended by Dr. H. H. Gordon, can be relied upon. We would not make this statement to our patrons, friends and neighbors unless we were sure of it—and although there are many so-called Eczema remedies sold, we ourselves unhesitatingly recommend D.D.D. Prescription.

Drop into our store today and let us tell you how we back our opinion with a money-back guarantee. Ask us also about D.D.D. Soap; it helps.

CLASSIFIED TAXES.

Whenever there is any talk about a lower rate of taxes on intangible personal property a great howl goes up from the owners of tangible property, who affect to believe it a gross injustice. Intangible personal property consists mostly of Stocks, Bonds, Notes, Cash, Accounts, Mortgages, and other such evidences of enterprise, all of which are limited by law or custom to a certain percent of earnings. No other kind of property has the limits of its profits fixed by law. A man may lawfully earn all he can in his store, his shop or on his farm. He may charge what he pleases for his professional services, for his manufactured wares, for his cattle, his hogs, and his chickens, wheat and tobacco, when he comes to lending money, which the investment in Securities includes, he is strictly limited to a gross income never exceeding six per cent and is it fair to exact half or more of his income for taxes when others get off with perhaps one-tenth of their earnings from other kinds of invested property, farming, professions and business? The argument is all in favor of the money lender, as his capital is essential to all industrial improvement and cheap money greases the wheels of progress and prosperity.

STATE BANK & TRUST COMPANY
RICHMOND, KENTUCKY

DO YOUR DUTY.

Is Kentucky a Democratic State, or a doubtful State? Is it one of those States which can be always relied upon to cast its vote for democratic principles of independence and for the interests of the people or is it, as some of the National Republican leaders like to claim, one of those doubtful States, which may now and then be garnered by the agents of the big interests and swing by them into the money column?

Now is the time for all Kentucky Democrats to settle that question in a manner that will leave no room for doubt. On November 2nd, the voters of Kentucky will choose a Governor and a complete set of State officers to guide the destinies of the State for the ensuing four years. Let there be no hair-line decision at the polls. The vote in the Democratic primary showed how many Democrats there are in Kentucky. It showed conclusively that Kentucky is a Democratic State, that it is, in fact overwhelmingly Democratic.

It is now the duty of every Democrat in the State to cast his vote for the entire State ticket on November 2nd. Let us take nothing for granted. The eyes of the whole nation are on Kentucky. Three years ago the nation, disgusted at Republican misrule, arose and turned over the stewardship to the Democratic party. Today the Republicans are hoping against hope for a ray of light. They want to shove the thin edge of the wedge in somewhere. Let the Democrats of this State prevent its being slipped between their own ribs.

If there is a small majority for Stanley and the rest of the Democratic ticket in this election, the Republican leaders will claim that the country is returning to the Republican fold. They will be buoyed up to redouble their efforts to regain control of the nation in 1916.

But, a good, old-fashioned, swathing Democratic majority in this year's State election will break their hearts. It will have a powerful moral effect on politics from the Great Lakes to the Gulf of Mexico, from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

The Democrats of Kentucky must stand shoulder against the common enemy. They should forget the disappointments that came to some of them in the primary. Last year, after Beckham beat him in the primary for the nomination for the United States Senate, Stanley got behind Beckham and stamped the State from one end to the other in Beckham's behalf. The men who supported McKimsey and McDermott in the primary should follow the example set by Stanley and show that, in spite of differences within the party, all Kentucky Democrats stand together when fighting Republicans.

A BEAUTIFUL THOUGHT.

The keynote of the ideals of Government that have moved A. O. Stanley during his public career were voiced in a few words by Stanley himself in an extemporaneous speech he delivered at the State Fair in Louisville on September 16th. The gubernatorial candidate was speaking of good roads and during the course of his speech said:

"What has preserved this government for 150 years or more? I will tell you: The plain citizen seated in a cane bottom chair on a rag carpet, before an open fire place, with a Bible on his knees and his family grouped about him, his head bowed, simply and reverently asking God to guide him through the night, and arising in the fear of that same God at dawn, to take up the simple tasks of the day. He votes with no thought of profit to himself, but for the good of his family and the honor of his country and the glory of his God. This is the power upon which this republic rests, and must forever rest."

SOMETIMES.

Sometimes! Yes, SOMETIMES an editor gets a kind word. In a letter from a prominent educator, well known in this community, the following words were read with pleasure:

"The Climax-Madisonian is one of the best county papers that I have ever read. I like your frank editorials on matters of public interest."

And this from another: "I see that my time is about up for your paper. You will please find enclosed money order for one dollar for which please renew my subscription for another year. I don't want to miss a copy for it is like receiving a letter from home and friends."

If the community will boost instead of kicking the local papers they will have more heart to put into their work and will be able to do better work for this city, county and state.

A GOOD CITIZEN.

"How is this for a definition of what constitutes a good citizen, asks the Todd County Times: A man who wants to see the very best roads leading from the very best schools, churches and lodges, and who is willing to do his very level best to secure all of them for all the people; who wants to see the very best educational advantages given free to the poorest child, and doesn't kick at paying his just part of the taxation necessary to obtain them; a man who is grateful for what the community has in years gone by done for him, or may have done now, and is willing to demonstrate that gratitude by doing all he can for the community in question"

Carnival Here.

The Geo. Reynolds World's Greatest Shows are here for one week's engagement. The show comes here from Lexington on their way to the Chattanooga Fair. This is said to be one of the best shows on the road and everyone who attended the ground show that has ever played this city. Everyone was spellbound and amazed when Mr. Matt Guy made his dive, leaving the apex of a tower 110 feet high backwards making a double somersault and landing in a tank containing but four feet of water. The most remarkable performance ever presented everyone says.

Some Tater.

Mr. June McKinney brought to this office last Friday a rather unusual potato. The "spud" is eight inches long and ten inches in circumference, and near where it grew on the vine are four other taters; one being as large as a goose egg. It is not wholly a freak of nature, but has created considerable comment by all who have seen it. It is surely some tater, and would make an ordinary family a meal, provided they had anything to eat besides potatoes.

Urgent Warning.

Owing to the prevalence of diphtheria raging in many sections of the State, an urgent warning has been issued by the Kentucky State Board of Health, sounding a note of warning to parents, teachers and all other lovers of children of the great danger of the disease, which is likely to increase in cool weather, and again calls attention to the recognized methods of prevention. Parents or those who have children should carefully look after the children and take every precautionary measure to guard against the spread of the disease. Madison county is very fortunate, as the children of the county have escaped so far, but in many counties in the State an epidemic of the disease is raging, and the local boards of health have forbidden crowds from congregating.

Nine Babies in 24 Months.

About 15 months ago a Mrs. Drury, of Spencer county, gave birth to five children, 3 of whom are still living and healthy. Two weeks ago she presented her husband with four more little darlings—making nine she has had in less than two years. This is a rare feat, and it is a wonder that she has escaped so far, but in many counties in the State an epidemic of the disease is raging, and the local boards of health have forbidden crowds from congregating.

This is a very prolific crop of babies, and there is no danger of race suicide ruining the country as long as babies are produced in such a wholesome manner. However, the above facts anything that has come to our notice. We knew of a young couple in Bourbon county who had been married five years and had thirteen children, and every body thought they were doing pretty well, but the Spencer county couple surely will take the tie for babies.

A MOUNTAIN COURTSHIP

By M. QUAD
Copyright, 1915, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

The mountaineer and his wife had to go down the valley about a mile to see a sick neighbor, and I was left at the cabin with their daughter, a girl of eighteen. As soon as she had cleared off the supper table and while I sat on the doorstep smoking she put on a clean apron, arranged her hair a bit and blushed very red as she said to me: "Him's comin' to see me tonight—and him's very skeery and—and—and—"

"Do you mean that your young man is coming?" I asked.
"Reckon him is."
"And he's bashful?"
"Him can't scarcely abide dad and mam."

"I see. He'd be scared off if he found me sitting here. Well, I'll take a walk and be out of the way."
"No, no, no! You're perfectly proper. I'll go out and sit down on the log, and you stay right here."
"Oh, that's it? Well, don't you mind me in the least."

The log was only thirty feet away, and she hadn't been sitting there over five minutes when "him" appeared. He had probably been in hiding somewhere. All I could see was that he was a young man, very bashful and awkward. He sat down about ten feet away from her, and it was about five minutes before either spoke.

"Who's him?" queried Jim as he nodded his head in my direction.
"Stranger, gwine further up," she answered. "You hain't no call to be skeered of him no nobody."

"Who's skeered?"
"Reckon you is."
"Shoot! Never was skeered in all my life. Linda, does your old dad like me?"

"Reckon he do."
"And your mam?"
"Reckon she do."
"And, Linda?"

He stopped there for a long, long time, and Linda coughed and giggled over his embarrassment. By and by she said:
"Dad says you come powerful kin killin' a b'ar last week."
No reply.
"Mam says you took up them ten acres of land above Parkers'."

No reply.
"Has you lost your tongue, Jim?" she asked after a long silence.

"Go 's on, not, I was thinkin'," he replied as he heaved a deep sigh.

"Reckon I know what twas. Te-he-he!"

"Reckon you don't."

"Go 's on, I do. Dad likes you, mam likes you, and I—"

That log suddenly contracted again and brought them close together, and Jim's arm stole around Linda's waist as he finished the sentence for her with:

"And we's gwine to be jined in the fall and live on them acres! Linda, if him wasn't back thar in that doap I'd shortly hug you, I would."

I got out of "that doap" and took a long walk, and if Jim didn't take advantage of the occasion Linda's looks belied her when I returned.

The girl gave me good night and passed to her room, and a little later the old folks arrived back.

"Stranger, was thar a feller yere a-sparkin' Linda?" whispered the father as they sat down beside me.

"Of co'se there was—of co'se," said the wife.

"There was a young man here," I replied.

"Did Linda call him Jim?"

"She did."

"Of co'se she did—of co'se," added the wife.

"Did they sot together?"

"Yes, on the log."

"Would you say, stranger—would you say that thar was luv thar?" asked the husband.

"Why, I sat thar smoking and looking into the laurels, and I neither heard nor saw much. By and by I got up and walked away."

"Of co'se he did—of co'se," said the wife.

"Yes, he un would git up and walk away," sighed the husband.

"Would you like Jim for a son-in-law?" I asked after a bit.

"Stranger," replied the man as he laid aside his pipe so as to have both hands free to gesture with, "that yere young man has killed a b'ar with a knife."

"And a whoppin' big b'ar at that," added the wife.

"He has shot three wildcats, sub."

"Shot three and skeered off a fourth."

"And he has swum the Cumberland river, sub."

"And it was in flood too."

"And he has killed mo' coons and foxes and possums in the last two y'ars, sub, than any two men in the State."

"Of co'se he has—of co'se."

"And he made the elephant run when the last circus cum along, sub."

"And it was a whopper of an elephant, too—for suah it was."

"And, sub," continued the husband as he stood on his feet, "that yere Jim can outtholler, outrun, outwrestle, outfight and outlast any critter of his age fur fifty miles around."

"Of co'se he kin—of co'se," added the wife as she also stood up.

"And, sub, in a y'ar or two mo' we ar gwine to send him to the legislature, and he's gwine to swell around these mountains with a plug bat and a cane. And this, sub, and you axes me if I'd take him for a son-in-law."

"Of co'se we would—of co'se," said the wife.

Big Campaign Tour

Chairman H. H. Colyer, of the local Democratic Campaign Committee, is making extensive preparations to have one of the greatest campaign tours ever inaugurated in the history of Madison county. Next week a whirlwind campaign will be made in Madison and Garrard counties, the committees of these two counties co-operating and leading speakers to each other. About thirty automobiles will be used and splendid music will be one of the features. Governor Thorne will be here and a number of local speakers will take part. The outlook is good for a rousing meeting all along the line, and a splendid majority rolled up for the entire Democratic ticket.

Maiden Ridge Nursery.

We have all kinds of fruit trees, berries and vines, the finest we have ever grown, for sale this fall at reasonable prices. Send for price list. Phone 100. G. D. SMITH, 38-41 Richmond, Kentucky.

Big Meeting.

The Central Kentucky Fox Hunters' Association is holding its annual meeting at Winston, Estill county, this week. The meeting will probably be the most largely attended of any within the history of the Association. All day Sunday members and their dogs were passing through this city on the way to the chase, which began Monday. Many handsome prizes will be given to winning dogs. Madison county is well represented at the meeting.

Second Crop.

One day last week Mr. Jerry Newby, of the Baldwin neighborhood, brought to this office several apples of the Carolina Red June variety, which were of fair size and the second crop gathered from the trees this year. Mr. Newby informed us that the trees were young and the first crop produced this year was a splendid one, and not long after the crop had again gathered, the trees began to bloom again, and the second crop, was a fairly good one.

Tip For Society Editors

Society editors may find inspiration in the following from the Rushville News: "The bride and groom presented a regal spectacle, never equaled since the proud Cleopatra sailed down the perfumed Lotus-bearing Nile. The gilded pageant to meet Marie Anthony, with all the world stood aghast at the unheard of triumph. To describe the bride's costume beggars the English language; and the imagination fails faint and feeble before the hieroglyphic car. She was gorgeously arrayed in a calico house dress and a pair of lace curtains floated like a dream about her figure."

Bankrupt Sale.

The confectionery belonging to Vincenzo Ricci, located on East Main street near Azbill's stable, is offered at public auction by order of the District Court of the United States for the Eastern District of Kentucky, consisting of candies, over his embarrassment. By and by she said:
"Dad says you come powerful kin killin' a b'ar last week."
No reply.
"Mam says you took up them ten acres of land above Parkers'."

No reply.

E. V. ELDER

At the Christian church Sunday night the ministers of the city united in a most interesting meeting, the occasion being the distribution of some bibles by the Gideon Society. Mr. Pritchett, of New York, was present representing the society and sang a solo with much expression. Another musical feature of the evening was a quartette. The Misses Telford rendered a harp, violin and cello number. The music of the choir was unusually good. Revs. Telford, Clark, Reynolds and Bruce gave interesting talks on the bible and the beneficent results from the custom of the Gideons in placing them in the hotels and boarding houses. After the meeting, a large number of bibles were placed in the rooms of the hotels and boarding houses of the city.

MRS. MELTON'S LETTER

To Tired Worn-out Mothers

Jackson, Miss.—"I shall feel repaid for writing this letter if I can help any tired, worn-out mother or housekeeper to find health and strength as I have. I have a family of five, sew, cook and do my housework and I became very much run-down in health. A friend asked me to try Vinol. I did so and now I am well and strong and my old time energy has been restored. Vinol has no superior as a tonic for worn-out, run-down, tired mothers or housekeepers."

—Mrs. J. N. Melton, Jackson, Miss.
B. L. Middleton, Druggist, Richmond, Ky.

NOTES FROM EASTERN.

(From the Dean's Office.)

Chapel exercises were conducted one day the past week by Dr. L. L. Pickett, candidate on the Prohibition ticket for Governor of Kentucky. He also addressed the students and the faculty.

Mr. Otto W. Moerger, Secretary of the Inter-collegiate Association of Chicago, paid the school a visit the past week and spoke at Chapel.

Dr. W. A. Ganfield, President of Central College, Danville, was present Wednesday morning to conduct the devotions at Chapel hour and to address the school.

The Presbyterian ministers who attended the Kentucky Synod in Richmond the past week were guests of the school at an informal reception tendered to them Thursday evening at Sullivan Hall. The school assembled in the Chapel at 4:30 o'clock, where short addresses were delivered by President Crabbe, Dean McDougall and Professor Keith on the part of the Normal School and responses were made by several of the visiting ministers who expressed their admiration for the great work that is being done here for the schools and children of the State.

President Crabbe attended the meeting of the Seventh District Teacher's Association at Frankfort last Saturday. She school enjoyed a hah holiday last Friday to enjoy the Barnum & Bailey circus.

The Kentucky Wesleyan Foot Ball team of Winchester defeated our boys on our athletic field here Saturday afternoon by the score of 33 to 0.

Church Notes

CHRISTIAN CHURCH.

Next Sunday morning a service in honor of the "Bible, the World's Greatest Volume" will be held. All lovers of the Holy Book are urged to be present. At night the sermon which was to have been preached last Sunday to students will be delivered. All students and teachers are cordially invited to be present.

At the Christian Church Sunday morning a beautiful musical program was rendered. The pastor, Dr. E. B. Barnes, preached a special sermon, "The Fading Life," which has been most highly commended. In the evening the sermon was addressed to the students of the city, the same being largely attended.

The C. W. B. M. was held at the Christian church on Wednesday afternoon last week, at which time the newly elected president, Mrs. J. R. Pates, presided. The leader of the evening was Mrs. N. B. Deatherage. The program was excellent, the feature of the meeting being the presence of Dr. E. B. Barnes and Dr. C. K. Marshall, the former giving a graphic account of his trip to California and the National Convention. The lossess of the day were Mrs. John Baldwin and Mrs. N. B. Deatherage.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH NOTES.

A Teacher's Training Class, open to all who wish to enter, will be organized next Sabbath, in charge of Miss Roberts. The Sacramental Service, previously announced but postponed, will be held in connection with the morning service next Sabbath.

The session of the church will convene twenty minutes before service to meet with and receive applicants for church membership.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE.

At the Christian Science church, the subject for Sunday, October 24, will be "Probation After Death."

M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH.

Sunday, October 24, will be Rally Day at the Methodist church. All are cordially invited.

Prof. and Mrs. Smith entertained their Sunday School classes delightfully on Saturday. About 45 were present.

Sunday, Oct. 24th, will be Rally Day in the Sunday School and Infant Baptism Day at the morning hour of worship. Sunday School begins at 9:30 promptly. Everybody should be in the Sunday School on Rally Day. Morning worship at 10:45. A short talk by the pastor on "The Relation of the Child to Christ and the Church." Several infants to be baptized. It will be a sweet and impressive service. The pastor will preach a special evangelistic sermon in the evening at 7 o'clock. The public is cordially and earnestly invited to hear this message. Come to be blessed and become a blessing.

M. S. Clark, Pastor.

UNION MEETING.
